Present Planning Should Prevent Post-War Depression, Unemployment and Confusion

It is fitting that among my fellow citizens of Vancouver I should discuss the extent of governmental activity which comes within the sphere of my government.

In an even broader way, the national way, this is a subject of deep and personal concern to every Canadian. These are your sons and daughters, your brothers and sisters, who have gone from your homes, who have interrupted their careers, that they might, in a spirit of self-sacrifice, offer their lives in our defence, in our future and happiness in the future. It is the welfare of our entire generation of young Canadians that is involved.

WONT BE LET DOWN

They have served us truly and they are distinguished in the field of our struggle. We shall never let them down. What are the responsibilities of the problems which are called upon the face?

The numbers are more than three-quarters of a million. They include both men and women. They are serving in the navy, army and the air force. They are from all walks of life. They include doctors, lawyers and engineers, merchants, farmers, and craftsmen, employed in industry and employes, students and apprentices, clerks, salesmen, stockholders and housewives.

The requirements of their present service dictate that they are for the most part very young men. In special fields are some of middle years, such as that splendid group known as the Veterans Guard.

UNDETAKE NEW TASKS

Some of these have been called aside from the normal paths of their careers to undertake strange and new tasks. Little by little, the normal routine of business and industry has been interrupted. For all, therefore, but the small minority who are required to serve under arms as Canada's contribution to the cause of world peace, their future hopes and aspirations are centred around the completion of civil service, their aspirations, and ours on their behalf, are that they shall have the opportunity to enjoy the fruits of the communities of Canada which have provided them with the comforts and amenities of home and family life.

Doctors, lawyers, teachers and engineers with to return to the practice of their own professions. Farmers with to return to the land that they know and love. Skilled craftsmen with the pride and desire to aspire to independent lives practicing the arts for which they have been trained.

Broadly speaking, those who had a marketable skill when they entered the service, public and private, are likely to wish, on re-entering civil life, to use their skill, not only of providing themselves with a means of livelihood, but also as a means of contributing to the needs of their fellowmen.

TRAIN FOR CAREERS

There are the younger men, men and girls, who have been compelled their training or their educational careers. It is their desire and it is the desire of their parents, that they shall have the opportunity to complete their training for the careers upon which they had set their hearts.

For the young men and women, it is that the means exist for those who have served us so well, should be enabled to return to their truly laudable ambitions. That is the problem of civil rehabilitation.

But there are difficulties. Here is one of them. It is the fact that of the forces who have been away from his or her normal occupation for two, three, four, five, six years, faces certain handicaps in re-entering civil life.

It must be our duty and responsibility to ensure that, in so far as an able assistance can be given, the returning members of the forces

Declares Govt. Will Not Seek To Extend Term

MONTREAL, Dec. 13.—(CP)—The federal government will not ask parliament to extend its term of office on expiration of the mandate given it by the people in 1940, Fisheries Minister Bertrand said Saturday.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the reform club here, Mr. Bertrand said that "it would have been a waste of time to ask the people to extend the mandate given to the government in 1940."

"When election time comes... no one will be defunct," he said.

Mr. Bertrand said that the Progressive Conservative party "probably won't win a seat" in Quebec province in the next general federal election but they may be indirectly dangerous if they try to win the Blue Mountains party and make a Nationalist-Conservative alliance similar to that of 1911 when Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Liberal government was defeated.

FOR EMPIRE FIRST

He said the Conservative party always "will be for the empire rather than for Canada. They will never get away from the idea that we are still colonialists and that we should consider ourselves fortunate to be such. They will never get away from the idea that the defence of our territory is not necessary if we send our armies to Europe and Africa."

"If we didn't have an army on the Pacific coast, how often would the Japanese have attempted an invasion? If we did not have armed forces on the Gaspe peninsula, how many ships would have been sunk this year?"

The C.C.F. party was one which the people should be warned against, Mr. Bertrand said.

"Once again, the good sense of the province of Quebec will be called upon to save the country from a current of ideas which the rest of the world may have rendered dangerous," he said. "In a little while, even in Toronto, people will be saying 'thank you' to the province of Quebec."

Fourteen Cases Liquor Is Seized In Sleeping Car

train the sleeping car was placed near the railroad shops, where it was placed under observation throughout the day.

It was not until about 6:15 p.m. that Chivvin appeared in the auto. Stopping beside the coach, he entered. Police immediately closed in but were unable to prevent the flight into the darkness of another person. Officers, however, recognized the fleeing man.

Fourteen cases of 12 bottles each, a total of 168 bottles, were sealed with labels showing the products to be that of the Manitoba Liquor Control Board. One case had suffered from bad handling and was leaking badly when brought into police headquarters.

It was believed that Chivvin had ordered two bottles, into which he placed the spirits.

Chivvin drove an Alberta-licensed auto to the train police station. Not until after his arrest was it learned that the vehicle had been stolen from an Edmonton resident.

Appearing before Magistrate A. I. Millar, K.C., in police court Monday morning, Chivvin was charged with unlawfully having liquor not purchased in accordance with the Alberta Liquor Act regulations. He was also charged with taking from a 101 street residence a car valued at $200, without the consent of the owner.

Fines were received in each case, and bail was set at $3,000. The case was remanded to Dec. 20.

Soviet Troops Gain Initiative In Kiev Salient

doubtless because of their tremendous losses suffered since Aug. 19 when the all-out effort was launched to throw the Russians back to the Dnieper and recapture Kiev. Along the middle reaches of the Dnieper, a Russian force drove into the outskirts of Kirovograd, German-held industrial, military and rail centre, while a right wing advanced beyond Kremenchuk, midway between Kiev and Cherkassk.

The first picture of the great battle west of the Kiev, regarded as one of the most desperate of the war in that it gave a new test of German striking power, emerged from the accounts of the Russian successes.

Gen. Nikolai F. Vatutin's cavalry vanguard, exploiting the rout of the Germans west of Kiev in November, smashed westward as far as Zhitomir without meeting reinforcements.

REDS AGAIN MASTERS

The Russians were obliged to give up the Zhitomir and Kamenka areas in the face of determined German attacks. Since then the Soviets had ample time to pour artillery, anti-tank and infantry reinforcements across the Dnieper, build up the defences of Kiev, and entrench themselves.

The heavy armored losses inflicted on the Germans and their failure to achieve a strategic breakthrough gave reason to believe the Russians again were masters of the situation.

Howe Suggests Nine Objectives For Canadians

5.—Rebuild and expand the mining industry.

6.—Make the forest industries a permanent source of wealth by reforestation.

7.—Recapture old markets abroad and open up new ones.

8.—Rebuild marketing and distribution systems at home.

9.—Let's build our post-war plans not on narrow and public works and the dole but rather on the broad base of private industry, agriculture and our forests, mines and fisheries.

"Let us continue that close partnership of government, industry, the producer and the worker that has built the Canada of today, and use it to build a Canada of tomorrow."

Many persons feared that after the war there must be a return to widespread unemployment.

The basic reason for this was "a state of mind," he said. Post-war planners were focusing attention on "an alleged need for public works" to take up unemployment, and on social security plans as protection against want and misfortune.

BOASTS SOCIALISM

"With our post-war planners thinking in terms of public works and a government dole, it is any wonder that the advocates of Socialism are finding many disciples?" Mr. Howe asked.

"Strangely enough I do not find any trace of pessimism among manufacturers when they are discussing the future of their own business. They all seem to be well aware that a period of prosperity has followed every war in history, and they seem to expect a period of prosperity after this war."

He added:

"The argument that the aftermath of this war must be parallel to the aftermath of the last war cannot be sustained. The same aggressive steps that now are being taken to prevent breakdowns in wartime can be applied to preventing breakdowns of our economy in the post-war period."

Mr. Howe said Canadians must stop thinking in terms of "making a job." To just and give satisfaction a job must exist for the purpose of getting something done.

SOME SECTIONS OF PRESS BLAMED FOR 'PESSIMISM'

TORONTO, Dec. 13.—(CP)—Munitions Minister Howe said today in an address prepared for delivery to Toronto Canadian Club that "a section of our daily press is adding to the prevailing pessimism" that after the war there must be a return to widespread unemployment.

The minister said war production is at its peak and there are frequent changes and adjustments which cause temporary readjustments in employment. He added:

"When a section of a factory must close down for retooling, with a displacement of say, 1,000 workers, that situation is invariably headlined in our newspapers, and my office is flooded with telegrams of protest."

EMPLOYEES ABSORBED

"Usually the employees are absorbed in other departments of the same plant, which have been short of manpower, but that fact is never mentioned in press stories, or admitted in wires of protest."

"By the same token, when retooling has been carried out and 1,000 new employees are added to the plant payroll, such news never finds the headlines. Plant layoffs are news, but new employment is not news. Perhaps you can tell me why?"

"When reading the newspapers over the past several months, a reader would reasonably reach the conclusion that our war employment must be falling sharply. This is wholly untrue."

"My statisticians advise me that employment in war plants reached a new high peak in November last, and that every month of this year has seen an increase in employment in war plants."

Chinese women centuries ago rounded and painted their finger nails with names, designs of constellations or animals.

Bright Future For Canada in Aviation Seen

TORONTO, Dec. 13.—(CP)—The helicopter as the airborne counterpart of the automobile for short-distance flying... the flying wing and jet-propulsion engine revolutionizing air transport as we know it... this was the picture presented to Toronto Canadian Club today by Munitions Minister Howe—looking three or four years into the future.

The man who directs civil aviation for the government said Canada had a strategic position on the air-travel map and that an aggressive post-war aviation policy can provide an occupation for the pilot, radio electronics and airplane mechanics who now are carrying the war into Berlin.

FRANCHISES OPEN

He said franchises for new air routes in Canada are being held open for Canadians now carrying the air war to the enemy.

Mr. Howe spoke of production in Canadian plants of Lancaster bombers, De Havilland Mosquitoes, Catalina flying boats, Curtiss Hell divers and the Norquay Norseman, each in the top rank of its type.

"Our designers now are planning conversions to civilian transport types, in the hope of being ready for the post-war demand."

"The business of providing transportation by air in Canada is hardly saturated," he said. "A considerable number of new domestic routes that promise profitable operation are still open."

MANY APPLICATIONS

"While the government is receiving numerous applications for new franchises, these routes have been and will be held open until our gallant airman return from overseas. It is today one of the most valuable concessions within the gift of the federal government."

The end of the war would find Canada with the groundwork for a giant airport system based on some 200 modern airports.

U.S. President Visits Sicily On Recent Trip

ALGERS, Dec. 13.—(AP)—President Roosevelt visited Sicily on his recent trip to the Mediterranean and reviewed the American 7th Army troops commanded by Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., it was announced officially today.

The president flew from Malta to Castelero in the air force's big transport plane, accompanied by 12 fighters.

At the airport he entered a jeep and with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower drove up and down in front of hundreds of troops lining the runway.

Flanked by Patton, Eisenhower and Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark, commander of the Allied 5th Army in Italy, the president decorated several officers for bravery. After the ceremony he and his party flew to Eisenhower's villa in Tunisia.

It is understood that the president wanted to visit the Italian battlefield but secret service men and army officers charged with his safety flatly vetoed the idea.

President Roosevelt conferred Distinguished Service Crosses on Lt. Gen. Mark Clark and five officers of the Anglo-American 5th Army command.

Clark was cited for "extraordinary heroism in action" at the Salerno bridgehead in Italy when it was threatened by an enemy counter-attack on Sept. 14.

Canucks Work Under Fire To Put Road Over River

BY DOUGLAS AMARON
WITH THE CANADIANS IN ITALY, Dec. 10.—(Delayed)—(CP)—Canadian engineers, working under unceasing fire from artillery, mortars and small arms, built a 300-yard corduroy road across the Moro river near the Adriatic estuaries thanks to the efforts of the Canadian engineers. The Canadians suffered no fatalities.

For hours night and day the sappers, commanded by Maj. R. Fraser of Toronto and Montreal, worked without rest doing frustrating work in night raids on western Germany in which one plane was lost.

Coastal command Beaufighters, two of which were lost, destroyed three enemy aircraft over the Bay of Hiczy yesterday and Mosquitoes shot down a fourth while on patrol over France.

Fraser himself had both thumbs pierced by shrapnel but the injuries were not serious enough to put him out of action.

Among the men in the company was Pete Kapley of Edmonton.

The average width of Chile is 100 miles.

POWER DRIVEN MOTOR CATALYTIC

by PETER STURSBURG

Peter Stursburg, of the CBC, was the first war correspondent to give the world a "sound picture" of the invasion of Europe. His broadcast of celebration in the Sicilian town of Reggio, after the Canadians took it, was heard throughout the British Empire and the United States.

Somewhere in Italy (by Cable)—War stories at best are hard to get. When a fast mechanized army is on the move, it is a job in itself to keep up with it. Fighting men must have priority, for theirs is the all-important job. Nevertheless, the newsmen, radio and press, have just got to make the grade somehow. Believe me it is no parade. It's an impressive sight to see hundreds of vehicles literally plowing their way to the front. Speeding through dust, rough country, bad roads, heat, noise and excitement. It is really a power drive that we're putting on. You almost have to wait till it's over to know what you've seen. I can tell you it was a great matter of pride to us, in our General Motors Ottawa-built utility truck, to be able to hold our own against all-comers. It was in a "Chevy" that we brought back the world's first sound picture of fighting in Sicily. If the fellows back home who sweated to turn out these countless cars moving forward into tough engagements could only see the splendid product of their toil and skill fighting against rough conditions, they'd be just as proud as the lads who are in this scrap. We travelled for hundreds of miles over the rough, rocky roads of Sicily to see "Devil's Gap" of Italy. It is interesting to note that the song hit "Lily Marlene" was first recorded in our "Chevy". But we nearly lost the truck and all when first we tried to record a close-up of "noise of battle". Our guys were going to pump forty thousand shells on a feature the Germans held, as we drove up steep brown hills where our batteries were parked in a dried-out stream. In the end the enemy was routed by our Infantry without a shell being fired and we were terribly disappointed with the loss of a fine recording. We weren't disappointed, however, with the breath-taking never-to-be-forgotten trip through Sicily and the toe of Italy in our trustworthily old "Chevy".

● From Italy and Sicily, Peter Stursburg sends his eye-witness account of battle. Here, as in the other theatres of war, Canadian-built vehicles are doing their part in the fight for freedom. Men and women in the plants of General Motors of Canada feel a glow of pride as they hear of and see the results of their labour. From thousands of work benches here at General Motors comes assurance that they will be kept rolling—"till Victory comes."

WHILE there is nobody in the local City Men's Basketball League who might be barred under the suggested height limit now being advocated in the United States and evidently aimed at such players as Robert Kurland, the Oklahoma A. and M. seven-foot centre aptly named "Football", there are nevertheless a few who hardly can be classed as shorties.

And it would be interesting to see a couple of quarters played from the tallest in both circuits on the floor during at least a portion of next Friday's first session. Statistics as to F.O. Grey's height are not available, but there is little doubt of there being some "lengthy" boys included on the various rosters.

As a starter for such a team so far as the City League is concerned, this corner would nominate Warren Taulbe, Hospital, and John Quillean and Earl Ayers, both of Engineers—5 feet 5 inches, 4 feet 4, and 4 feet 2, respectively. And how about Ken Show, Aircraft Repair and Frank Forgie, Varsity, both 4 feet 2, 1 inch?

And then there are Wayne Adams, Joe Long, and Joe MacBlawie—exact figures unknown, but they usually look plenty bush to the opposition and may have hit well over the six mark before calling off the corner upon them. The six foot category and in the Driver of Aircraft. Incidentally, Phil Sonntag of the Saints, named to Quillean for scoring goals to date is only a little fellow in comparison to some of the boys performing regularly at Westfield, who just feel 11 inches.

N.Y. Rangers Finally Crash in Column

Boston Bruins First Victims In 16 Starts

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—(AP)—After 15 futile efforts, the New York Rangers finally won a National League hockey game Sunday night, turning back the Boston Bruins 6-4 before a crowd of 15,369. The Rangers had lost 14 of their first 15 games and tied the other.

The victory was costly, however. The Bruins were hurt in scoring the final goal and Ken McAuley, their flashy goal tender, was injured near the end of the second period. The middle period was cut short after the Bruins struck on the mouth by the puck in a mixup in front of the goal and the remaining time, nearly three minutes, was added to the third frame. The goals performed brilliantly in the last period, however.

As Scherz had his second goal of the game, he lost his balance and crashed into a goal upright. The young winger, however, obtained from the Bruins was taken to hospital, where it was announced Scherz and not suffered any broken bones but that a rupture was possible.

Bryan Hextall also scored two goals for the Rangers, putting them back in the game. He had been in the Bruins' line in the second period, and Bill Cowley scored twice for the Bruins. The deciding goal, however, was a long shot by Captain Lou Lefkowitz in the third period that gave New York the lead. The puck hit a goal post, bounced behind goalie Bert Gardiner and finally rolled into the net.

WEEKEND TEMPERATURES
Local hockey-minded citizens at least a ray of hope that practice would soon commence. Considerable difficulty is being encountered in trying to build up a base at the north end of 11th Street hockey rink and in the absence of a sudden drop workouts are likely to be delayed still further.

Joe Jura, newly acquired defenseman for Red Deer Army should prove quite an addition to Mac Colville's Wheelers. He is a big fellow—4 feet 2 inches—with a powerful punch in proportion. He is strictly an Alberta product, having been born in Banff, Jura.

Jura turned pro with Vancouver in 1928 and two seasons later joined New York Rangers. He then went to Boston where he alternated with Bruins and Boston Americans in 1936-37 when he spent with St. Louis. Joe was with New York Americans in 1938 and again in 1939-40 and 1940-41 before going back to Boston Americans for 1940-41. He played with Cleveland in 1940-41.

There may be better goals than Ken McAuley's, but certainly none with any more burst-to-goodness and. Ken can take it and hit it back, and in the second period he scored the third period last night after receiving a nasty mouth injury from the Bruins in the second period of the former Maple Leaf junior.

Shade Tecumseh-Mustangs 5-4 Red Deer Soldiers Move Into Tie With Currie Army

CALGARY, Dec. 13.—(CP)—Red Deer Army Wheelers drew into a first-place tie with Calgary A-16 Currie Barracks in the Alberta Services Senior Hockey League Saturday night with a close 5-4 decision over the luckless Calgary Tecumseh-Mustangs. It was the fourth straight loss for the Calgary club, two to the Wheelers and two to Currie Barracks.

The Wheelers, under the guidance of Mac Colville, husky defender of New York Rangers and Ottawa Commandos fame, had to fight hard for their second victory before a crowd of more than 2,000. The game was closely contested all the way.

LAC, Doug French, scored the first goal for the Wheelers in the first period but the Wheelers came back to score two before the 20 minutes were up. Ray Bennett scored the second goal for the Wheelers in the second period.

Each club scored two goals in the second period. Ray Bennett scored the second and third goals for the Wheelers in the second period. The game was tied 2-2 at the end of the second period.

There were no lucky goals in the contest and each club had to fight hard for every marker scored. Joe Jura, 25-year-old veteran hockey player, who turned pro with Vancouver in 1928, and since then performed with numerous teams, including the New York Rangers, was in the line-up.

TORONTO, Dec. 13.—(CP)—Re-instatement of six Buffalo Bisons professional hockey players to active ranks and transfer of three of the six to Brantford Lions in the Junior O.H.A. caused quite a furore on some sport pages. There were charges that such wholesale reinstatement was making a mockery of the amateur definition and that the transfer deadline, Dec. 1, was being disregarded.

W. A. Hewitt, O.H.A. secretary, explained the situation. The players signed by Eddie Shore, Buffalo team, given a trial, then refused and reinstatement was North Ontario boys. R. Powell, N. Evenhew and V. Jones, and three Saskatchewan players, P. Walder, E. Kobussen and Alfred Turner.

These boys' reinstatement had lost five players through enlistment, four from last year's team, and named Flintstones, who started this season. For these men they were entitled to military reinstatement without regard to transfer deadline and they were granted transfer for the Sudbury, Powell and Evenhew and for Turner.

Hewitt said Kobussen and Walder played with Buffalo since reinstatement and therefore must still be regarded as professionals. Whereabouts of Jones isn't known to Hewitt but he is not transferred to Brantford.

Most determined defence of the National Hockey League's new and low came from Montreal. And first effects are felt in Montreal. Canadian players were mightily peeved because a line-up of players called back two goals they scored in Boston Sunday when they suffered their first defeat of the season 5-4. But the $100 maximum fine for enlistment of players toed down the state. For example, the Montreal report said, "Coch (Dick) Irvin... said 'I'm not endorsing anything. I can't afford to under the new rule'... But off the record he emitted several shrill and caustic remarks. So did the players."

INCIDENTALLY:
Boston Gardens can't sell standing room any more because of civil-bias which clip 3,000 off maximum attendance... F.O. Bob Hazel, in a letter home reports he met F.O. Tony Gola at an R.C. A.F. base in Italy for the first time and they played together in the Ottawa Rough Riders backfield in 1940.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Bob Kurland, a seven-foot youngster who plays basketball for Oklahoma A. and M., may be the swiftest instrument of a change in the court rules... Pointing the finger at Kurland and other overseas "gals" (probably because he couldn't reach Bob's head), coach Bruce Drake of Oklahoma says he has decided to join Dr. Phil Allen's campaign to play the basketball 12 feet above the floor instead of 10. This Dr. Drake couldn't say whether that would be a cure-all for basketball, but we figure it would be a better game if all those big boys didn't get so close together that you can't see the individuals for the crowd.

ONE MAN TEAMS
In a Florida high school grid game this fall, Buddy Horton, St. Petersburg, broke a pass that was batted into the air by a West City linebacker... As the ball bounced off another player's back, Buddy rushed in and caught it for a four-yard gain... The same thing happened to Gerald Tabor of Okla.

The selections were announced by Bert McGrane of the Des Moines Register and Tribune, association secretary. Staggs will receive a plaque and will take possession of a trophy inaugurated last year, on a one-year basis. Lt. Cmdr. Tom Hamilton was the honor last year, when he was in charge of planning the program for the Navy's pre-flight schools.

What To Do

People who have food phobias are a bore. There are many of them and you often hear such remarks as "Oh, I don't eat carrots" or "sea food doesn't agree with me."

If these things are true, be quiet about it, and at least sample the food placed before you.

By being hard to cook for you are closing many doors to your face, because few housewives will struggle to remember whether you like eggplant or beans.

A man with peculiar food notions can make his wife and children miserable.

It is an easy thing to do—requiring only a little will-power—to eat everything that is presented to you. You will find out that the person with the Compulsive appetite is one who has tried various foods in their original settings and is usually a person of culture and taste.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Keeping Home Greater Calling Than War

Patriotic Mothers Leave Factory Jobs When They See Children Rending, Husbands Lost, Home Life Gone

A great deal of harsh criticism has been directed at women war workers because they are so independent. They are here today and gone tomorrow in defense plants, even as they are in our kitchens, and no housewife can any more tell when a lady visitor is going to take a day off to leave a few hair waves and beauty treatment than the housewife can anticipate whether the husband is going to come to get breakfast, or absent himself to attend a marked down bargain sale.

The spotlight has been turned on this condition of affairs by a recent report of the War Manpower Commission which sets forth that out of every two women hired in war plants during the labor shortage years in June, one quit her job and this has raised a great outcry about women's lack of patriotism and their failure to do their bit for Uncle Sam in this hour of need.

No doubt these charges are in many cases well-founded and that

McCoys Health Service

When the average person takes up exercising with the idea of gaining better health or of developing a strong body, he usually begins with various movements of the legs and arms. These are good in their way, but they are not the most sensible. I find that exercise which develops the muscles of the chest and back are of far greater value.

A good development of the abdominal muscles will bring greater normal endurance, and will also help to keep the patient posture. Real endurance, real staying-power, and real vitality come from the muscles of the chest and back. These muscles are the most important muscles in the body. They are the muscles that support the body. They are the muscles that give the body its shape. They are the muscles that give the body its strength. They are the muscles that give the body its beauty. They are the muscles that give the body its life.

Women will find these abdominal exercises particularly good, as they are not strenuous, and they are not tiring. They are the exercises that will give the body its shape. They are the exercises that will give the body its strength. They are the exercises that will give the body its beauty. They are the exercises that will give the body its life.

Jasper Avenue Property Urged As Park Lands

zoning of the Jasper avenue area the city architect cites the following reasons:

"With respect to the above property which is on the south side of Jasper avenue and at the edge of the bank, we wish to suggest to you that the city take steps to have this entire area re-zoned into park lands and plans be made for the acquisition of the present buildings when the opportunity is presented. This request, although at first may seem rather sweeping, is, we think, in the interests of good town planning. We cite for your information several conditions which lead us to this conclusion:

"With the exception of the Duesland theatre, the Craig-Nair block and the Rudyk block, most of the buildings are of frame construction and in a dilapidated state. Land values and building assessments are tabulated herein for your information.

"The bank of the hillside has been eroding and slipping continuously and we feel that the properties are not safe for buildings.

"Because of the hillside location there is no room to serve the rear of the buildings. This in itself creates two major problems:

(a) "Loading and unloading of goods and merchandise has to be done from Jasper avenue and this is a contravention of the zoning by-law.

(b) "In the event of a fire in any one of the buildings, extreme difficulty would be encountered in getting it as access to the rear would be very difficult.

"The rear ends of all these buildings face onto the river valley and the architectural aspects, therefore, are not good and are conducive to garbage and other litter being thrown over the bank.

ENHANCE AVENUE

"We feel that a park land development on this property will greatly enhance not only Jasper avenue at this location but the whole street of the bank from the south side and the approach to the north side.

"The suggestions above would not include the taking over of the Duesland theatre or of the Craig-Nair block or the Rudyk block as previously suggested. These properties are served from an extension of 87 street on the south side of Jasper.

"I would be very pleased to discuss this matter further with you at your convenience.

"The commissioners would recommend that the above matters be referred to the Town Planning Commission for consideration and report back to the city council and that in the meantime no permits be issued for new buildings or for additions or improvements to existing buildings.

District News in Brief

Speaker Disperses Prevailing Notion

LYNDMINSTER—The prevailing theory that it was necessary for the smaller towns in the west to obtain a large piece of land and have almost a modern airport, and order to participate in the post-war planning of aviation in Canada was dispelled by H. G. Patterson of the Aeronautical Institute of Canada, in an address to the members of the Lyndminster Board of Trade, Thursday evening.

Mr. Patterson stressed the adaptability of a small beginning until it was ascertained the amount of air passenger and express that would be coming and going from the centre. He pointed out that aviation development was being boosted as a post-war plan.

A part of the industrial development after the war was one means of providing employment for members of the R.C.A.F. upon their discharge from the service.

MORE FIELDS

He looked forward to the time when the Dominion would be dotted with landing fields in almost every town the size of Lyndminster, he said. He pointed out the value of these landing strips to other aircraft in time of storms and emergency.

Noting day may be a public health issue in Lyndminster, the council having given the mayor the necessary authority to procure it a building at a meeting this week.

The council are also considering falling in line with a number of other towns in having the R.C.M.P. take over the police duties of the town. The matter has been discussed at the last two meetings and Capt. Fossum, in charge of the local detachment, addressed the council at their request. He said that in the event the council wish the R.C.M.P. to take over the police duties two extra men would be stationed here.
